VIVE Business Training – Limited Warranty Statement

By purchasing and using the VIVE Business Training of HTC (the “Software”), you agree to the terms and conditions of this Limiter Warranty Statement (the “Statement”). Please read this Statement carefully.

Using the Software for a commercial purpose without HTC's permission will make the limited warranty in the Statement null and void.

LICENSE GRANT

1. When you purchase the Software from HTC or the authorized retailer, you obtain the right to use the Software subject to the scope of license from HTC. HTC and its licensors retain the title, copyrights and other intellectual property rights in the Software.
2. The licensee who obtains the right to use the Software may be a natural person or an organization. You may not sublicense or transfer such right to the Software to any third party without HTC’s prior consent.

Activation of Software

1. Before using the Software, you have to activate the Software by entering the redeem code provided by HTC or the authorized retailer.
2. A set of redeem code may only be used on one device. After activating the Software, you may still install the Software and enter the same redeem code that you used on the previous device if you intend to use the Software on another device, then you will receive a notification from the Software asking if you want to replace the authorized device.

Limited Warranty

1. Warranty Period:
    a. The Warranty Period means one year from the activation date of the Software.

b. You may decide whether to purchase an extended warranty of the Software, and an extended warranty will be counted and quoted in years. Notwithstanding the foregoing, HTC reserves the right to decide whether to accept the order of an extended warranty.

2. HTC will provide you below services for free during the Warranty Period:

   a. Update and debugging to the Software automatically and irregularly.

   b. Technical support

   c. Software optimization and upgrade pursuant to the plan you purchased.

   d. Trial of new products or new features related to the Software and subject to the plan you purchased. The trial period will be determined by HTC.

3. If you contact HTC via the above email during the Warranty Period due to Software related issues, HTC will reply to you within two business days subject to Time in Taiwan after receiving your request.

4. HTC will continue to provide above services other than update, optimization and upgrade during the Warranty Period even if the Software reaches End-of-Life.

Terms of Use

For the Use of the Software, you shall agree to and comply with the "HTC END USER LICENSE AGREEMENT AND TERMS OF USE – VIVE Business Training (VIVE Training)" published by HTC (the "Terms of Use"). The Terms of Use may be updated from time to time. You may click here to see the full text and latest version of the Terms of Use.

Update to the Statement

HTC reserves the right to update the Statement at any time. Please visit HTC's site in your area for the latest version of the Statement to the Software.